BEN KERNER

The story of the St. Louis Hawks and the club's Cinderella climb to the summitt as one of the sports' world's finest franchises revolve around Ben Kerner and his grim determination to "make a go" of a situation that had been described countless times as virtually hopeless.

The story of Kerner and his Hawks started back in his home town of Buffalo, N.Y. A Canisius College and University of Buffalo alumnus, he founded a profitable sports advertising and promotion firm in the early 1940's. He entered service in 1942, and by the time he came out, a business associate, Leo Ferris, had acquired a franchise in the old National League. Seldom has a man, roped into an investment of something in which he had little interest, worked as hard as Kerner did the next 10 years - from Buffalo to the Tri-Cities (Moline and Rock Island in Illinois and Davenport in Iowa) to Milwaukee where the end was evident when the Braves took the city by storm.

Ferris long since had departed, having sold his end to Kerner. And bitten deeply by the basketball bug, Kerner had battled major cities in the pro basketball war. He had outlasted many, including St. Louis, Chicago, Detroit, Pittsburgh and Toronto - but at a terrific price in personal pride. His Hawks finished fourth in his division four straight times, in the merged NBA due mainly to his being forced to sell whatever star players he developed in order to continue in operation.

Kerner was in basketball 10 years and had lost $108,000, without ever drawing a cent in salary, when the end appeared near in Milwaukee at the end of the 1955 season. This was due partly to a lack of court interest..and partly to the great popularity of the Milwaukee Braves.

After visiting several other cities, Kerner decided to move the team to St. Louis, despite the pleas of various sports officials and newspapermen throughout the country who pointed out to him that this city had already lost one pro basketball team - the Bombers; a major league baseball club - the Browns, and a hockey team - the Flyers.

"I made up my mind to come to St. Louis," Kerner remembers," since there had been newspaper interest here and we did draw around 8,000 people that previous February when we played here, despite competition from the opening of Cinerama and some other functions. And the game was played on Ash Wednesday."

The rest is sports history. By astute trading, he built a club that, starting in 1956-57, won five straight Western Division titles and one world championship, that in 1957-58.

Two years ago, injuries to key personnel and the loss of guard Len Wilkens to military service were factors in the club's plumenting to fourth place in the West. But when a rebuilding job of the entire club was evident, Kerner took charge of the job in a hurry. Trades brought Mike Farmer, Phil Jordon and Bill Bridges plus Gene Tormohlen who may pay dividends this year. In all, eight new faces were added and the Hawks came through with a remarkable 48-32 record.

In Kerner's early days in the sport, coahhes were expendable and in Milwaukee alone, he had three, Doxie Moore, Andrew (Fuzzy) Levane and William (Red) Holzman. In St. Louis, Ben has had nine - Holzman, Dugie Martin (who asked to be replaced since he felt he was more valuable to the team as a player), Alex Hannum, Andy Phillip, Ed Macauley, Paul Seymour, Bob Pettit (who handled the club for a few games ala Martin), Levane again and now Harry Gallatin. It is typical of Kerner that he helped acquire jobs for men who at one time coached for him. Levane was head coach of the New York Knicks, helped into that post by Kerner's recommendation. Holzman is assistant coach and chief scout for the same club. Hannum is now coach of the San Francisco Warriors after a stint at Syracuse. In fact, Kerner once gamely gave Red Auerbach, his coach at Tri-Cities, to Boston when the Celtics pleaded "that they needed a big name" to help them establish the sport in that city. Two years ago, when a replacement was needed shortly after the season started, Kerner was flooded with offers of help from former players including one from Levane who left a flourishing insurance business to finish the season coaching the club.

In Gallatin, Kerner feels he has found a young man, who like himself is dedicated to basketball. "He'll become one of the all-time coaching greats," says Kerner of Gallatin who earned Coach of the Year honors in the NBA last season for his impressive first-year job.

When he came to St. Louis, Kerner immediately found that all of his advisors were wrong. All that this area needed was someone to present a good representative team and be willing to work to put pro basketball across to the public in the proper setting.

An astute promoter, Kerner instituted a summer clinic program for youngsters employing Hawks players as instructors. More than 400,000 youngsters attended the sessions, a practice now followed in some form by other NBA clubs.

Five years ago, Kerner presented a series of clinics and fashion shows for women, two at the fashionable Sheraton-Jefferson Hotel in St. Louis, and another at Kiel Auditorium. This was in keeping with his policy of interesting the female fan in the Hawks.

A pioneer in presenting added attractions at his games, Kerner has featured some of the nation's top entertainers on the Hawks Bandstand each season. Some of the names who have appeared are Duke Ellington, Count Basie, Lionel Hampton, Louis Armstrong, Sammy Kaye, Harry James, Billy Williams, Joe Williams, the Four Freshmen, George Shearing, Al Hirt, the Crew Cuts, the Dukes of Dixieland, Al Martarie, Woody Herman, Guy Lombardo, Stan Kenton and the Glenn Miller orch.

Other special events have included pro tennis matches featuring the top players in the world; golf exhibitions by the top pros, and an invitational bowling tourney that drew crowds of 12,000 and 11,000 the past two years. Special alleys were constructed at the Arena for the tourneys in which more than $6,000 in prize money was at stake.

Recognizing that basketball interest was dormant when the team first moved here, Kerner organized the need for a speaker's bureau and now players and officials of the Hawks make more than 300 personal appearances each year. Films are also available to clubs, groups and organizations through the Hawks office.

Five years ago, when he realized that new seats and a better floor arrangement were needed at Kiel Auditorium, he advanced the City of St. Louis $35,000 so that the new setup could be purchased quickly. Then he purchased a $2500 scoreboard and presented it to the city as a gift.

Four years ago, he had the Fred Medart Co. of St. Louis design special baskets, operated on a hydralic lift, for use at Kiel. These were the first to be installed anywhere in the world.

This year, he is advancing the city money to purchase a new floor at Kiel and two years ago, when the Hawks started to play some games at the Arena, he purchased a new floor for use at that building. Foiled in his attempt to get Elgin Baylor from the now Los Angeles Lakers (he offered $200,000), he bought the "floor he played on", giving the Lakers $12,500 for their court.

A pioneer in the field of radio and tv sports programming, the Hawks have the most lavish in both media in the NBA. All of the club's games are broadcast live and direct, including pre-season contests, while a number of games are telecast to St. Louis from the road.

Several weekly radio shows featuring Kerner himself and other Hawks players and front office personalities are presented.

Pro basketball has become Kerner's entire life. One has only to watch him at a game to really appreciate the intensity of his feelings. Well-respected by newspapermen all over the country, he enjoys the best press of any mogul in the sports world. And that respect continues to his players. Many of his top stars have exclaimed "that they would rather retire than play for another owner."

Kerner shuns the limelight. He has turned down countless honors rather than accept them publicly. "They come to see my ball club.. not me," he explains.

Basketball is a constant challenge to him - a seven-day-a-week, 365-day-a-year position. This is best illustrated by an incident that happened after the Hawks won the world championship in 1958. The post-game celebration ended in the wee hours of Sunday morning, yet when a local newspaper sent a photographer to the Hawks offices at 9 A.M. that morning, a Sunday when the majority of St. Louisians were still asleep, there was Kerner and General Manager, Marty Blake, busy at work.

"What happended last night is over with," he explained. "Today starts a new season."

Obviously, Kerner is not one to rest on yesterday's achievements

Despite last year's fine record, that saw the Hawks finishing only five games back of Los Angeles and carrying the Lakers to the seventh game of the Western division final playoffs, Kerner realizes tha t the rebuilding job is not completed.

It may take another year or even two, but the Hawks will be back on top of the Western Division.

The rise of the St. Louis Hawks to prominence in the National Basketball Association is a success story that rates second to none in the annuals of sports. Unwanted after four years in Milwaukee, the Hawks were moved to St. Louis in May of 1955, entering a city that already lost one NBA franchise (St. Louis Bombers), a baseball club, (St. Louis Browns) and a hockey team (St. Louis Flyers).

Two years ago, injuries to key personnel were responsble for the club's decline but an almost complete rebuilding program last year saw the Hawks bounce back with a fine 48and32 record that earned new coach, Harry Gallatin, unanimous acclaim as the league's Coach of the Year.

The Hawks have won five Western Division titles in their eight years in St. Louis plus a world's championship in 1958.

Owned by one of thegame's pioneers, Ben Kerner, a former Buffalo N.Y. advertising man who gave up several lucrative businesses to remain in pro basketball, the Hawks were first located in the Tri-Cities (Rockford, Moline in Illinois and Davenport, Iowa).Then came a move to Milwaukee for four years starting with the 1951-52 season. And in 1955, Kerner broughtthe club to St. Louis.

Here, several key trades and some astute drafting helped the Hawks as they emerged with one of the game's top superstars in Bob Pettit and a supporting cast of top stars that dominated the Western Division for five seasons until two years ago. The Hawks won their first Western title in 1956-57 after the race ended in a three-way tie for first place. The Hawks downed Fort Wayne, then Minneapolis for the crown.

After sweeping the Western Division playoffs, they fought Boston right down to the wire before losing the World Series title in the final game of a seven-game series, 125-123, a double-overtime tilt.

In 1957-58, the Hawks soared to the World Championship defeating Boston four games to two after winning the Western Division crown by eight full games. The next year, they won the Western crown by a 16-game margin, the widest in league history. However, they lost to the Minneapolis Lakers in the Western final playoffs losing the final two games by margins of one and two points. An injury to Slater Martin, star Hawks guard, in the second quarter of the first game hurt the club. The Hawks two wins in the six game series were by margins of 30 and 34 points.

In 1959-60, the Hawks again won by 15 games and lost to Boston in a seven-game world series.Threeyears ago, the club posted a record 51-and-28 mark to win their fifth straight Western Division flag, by another 15-game margin. But again Boston triumphed in the final series four games to two.

Then came the injury-riddled 1961-62 season and the rebuilding program that saw the Hawks bounce back to a fine season last year. They dumped Detroit, three games to one, in the Western semi-finals and carried Los Angeles to the final game of a seven-game series before losing. Injuries to Zelmo Beaty and Cliff Hagan in the fifth game virtually eliminated what chances the Hawks had of upsetting the Lakers

HAWKS RADIO BROADCASTING TEAM.....JERRY GROSS AND AL FERRARI

Starting his fourth year as a member of the Hawks broadcasting team, personable Jerry Gross brings a world of broadcasting experience to his new position as play-by-play announcer of the court action. He handled the color on the Hawks broadcasts in previous seasons.

The 31-year-old New England native has a sound knowledge of all sports and his facility with words and his informal, pleasant manner has brought him increasing popularity.

In addition to his work as the Hawks' color man in previous years, Gross has done color and play-by-play on the St. Louis Cardinals baseball radio and television network including pre-game and post-game interview shows.

After graduating from Middlebury, Vt. College, Gross had a two-year stretch in the Army, doubling in brass as a regimental athletic officer. After his discharge, he become a sports director of a radio station in Ohio where he was closely associated with the Cleveland Browns, the Cleveland Indians and Cincinnati Royals. He later was sports director of an Illinois radio station handling basketball and football play-by-play and conducting a daily interview program with members of the Chicago White Sox and Cubs.

The 30-year-old Ferrari is a newcomer to the Hawks team but he has had a wide background in pro basketball. He was an All-American selection at Michigan State U. in 1955 then played five years with the St. Louis Hawks. He was in military service during the 1956-57 and 1957-58 seasons.

A top defensive man, Ferrari w as noted for his desire and hustle while a player. A vibrant personality, Al should prove a valuable addition to the Hawks broadcasting team.

HARRY GALLATIN

Few coaches in the history of professional sports achieved the acclaim and success in their initial year as a team leader as did Harry Gallatin in his rookie season as head coach of the St. Louis Hawks last season.

Not only did he bring the Hawks back from a near-collapse of the previous season when they finished in fourth place in the Western Division, but he earned for himself unanimous recognition as the NBA's Coach of the Year.

From the 29-51 record of two years ago, Gallatin mentored the Hawks to a fine 48-32 mark and second place in the Western Division behind the Los Angeles. And if the Hawks had not slumped in January a first place finish was within the realm of reality.

In the post-season playoffs, the Hawks downed Detroit in four games then battled the Lakers to the final game of the seven-game series before losing. Injuries to Cliff Hagan and Zelmo Beaty hampered the club in the final three games of the series.

Gallatin signed a two-year contract two years ago in March of 1962 to be exact and is reputed to have received the highest salary ever accorded a Hawks mentor.

Prior to taking the Hawks job, he was head coach at Southern Illinois U. in Carbondale, Ill. where he brought that school much fame as a court power in small college basketball circles.

A native of Wood River, Ill. and a 1944 graduate of Roxona, Ill. high school, Harry served 15 months in the Navy during World War II before entering Northeast Missouri State College at Kirksville, Missouri where he played three years, 1946 to 1948. He was the first draft choice of the New York Knicks in 1948.

He played a total of ten seasons in the NBA, nine with New York and one, his final year, with Detroit. He was known as basketball's original Iron Man playing in 682 consecutive contests and 64 straight playoff games. He had this mark bettered by Dolph Schayes, how coach of Philadelphia, two years ago.

As a pro, Gallatin scored 8,843 points in 682 games for a 13.0 per-game mark including a lifetime field goal % of .398 and a lifetime free throw norm of .773. He averaged 12.6 rebounds a game. He was chosen to play in eight All-Star games (1951-52-53-54-55-56-57-58) and he was named to the All-League first team in 1954 and the second team in 1955.

After retiring from pro ball in 1958, he started a four-year skein at SIU where he had a won-lost mark of 81 and 35. His 1962 club had a 21-10 record and placed third in the NCAA Small College-Division tourney at Evansville. Ind. In 1961, his club was rated fourth nationally among the small colleges with a 20-5 mark. He is married to the former Beverly Hull of Burlington, Iowa and they have three sons, Stephen, 11; Jim, 9, and Bill, 7.

CLIFF HAGAN

AGE: 31
HGT: 6-4
WGT: 215
Born: Owensboro, Kentucky on December 9, 1931
Residing: Florissant (St. Louis), Missouri
College: University of Kentucky from 1949 to 1954

Hagan continued his fine all-around play last season topping the year with a brilliant playoff series that might have culminated with another title for the club had not he broken his right thumb in the Los Angeles series for the Western Division title...He averaged 18.5 pts for 11 playoff contests and had a 15.5 per game mark during the regular season...Cliff will be starting his eighth year with the Hawks having joined them in 1956 in the now historic trade with the Boston Celtics that saw that club get Bill Russell and the Hawks acquire Cliff and Ed Macauley...For his pro career, Hagan has scored 10,020 points in 518 games for a 19.3 mark, good for 18th place among the all-time league scorers and eighth place among the active players... The past season, Cliff hit at a .470 pace in field goal attempts, tying his career mark set in 1961-62 and hit .800 from the free throw line, the fourth straight year he has made 80 per cent of his charity tosses...Hagan was in the Air Force at the time of the trade that saw him come to the Hawks...He had a so-so ineffective season his first year in the NBA until a hand injury to Pettit in Feb (15), 1957, gave him a chance to play regularly...He finished the remaining games, avg 10 points a contest and had a 17.0 playoff skein...In service, Cliff led the Andrews Air Force base to the Armed Forces title, (1954-55) and won All-Armed Forces honors...Hagan played on the great Kentucky team of 1954, a club that won 25 games in a row...He and Boston's Frank Ramsey were co-captains of that club...In his senior year at KY, Hagan averaged 24 points a game on 600 counters in 25 tilts...He had 528 rebounds in his junior year for a collegiate mark that stood until broken by Bill Russell...Set a school and personal college mark of 42 points against Tennessee in 1952...In college, he set a dozen Southeastern Conference marks...Cliff has been chosen to play in five East-West all-star games and has been named to the NBA second all-league team twice - 1958 and 1959...Kentucky won 86 of 91 games with Hagan and Ramsey...In 1949, he led Owensboro High School to the state hoop title beating Lafayette 64-57 as he scored 41 points...All-State and All-American in high school, his rivalry with Frank Ramsey was so great that newspapers kept daily charts of their scoring. He helped knock off Madisonville high in the first year of the state tourney when he and Ramsey were juniors in school...HIGH GAME AS A PRO CAME ON FEB. 11, 1962 IN ST. LOUIS VERSUS CINCINNATI WHENHE SCORED 55 PTS.. Cliff holds a Master's Degree in Education from Washington U. and he may teach when his playing days are over...In the off-season season, Cliff has an excutive position with the Adams Dairy Co. of St. Louis and he plans to continue that association...Like Pettit, he also runs a summer camp for would-be basketball players in New Hampshire each year and is also athletic director of the Florissant Valley Country club....In the St. Louis area, he rates as one of this city's top athletic heroes...He has resided here for the past six years...Cliff is married to the former Martha Milton and they have three daughters, Lisa, age seven, Laurie, age 5½, and Amy, 20 months...

Starting his first full season with the Hawks, Bill was obtained in the summer of 1962 from the Chicago Packers who had held the draft rights to him...He was their second choice in 1961, after an illustrious career at Kansas U...The Hawks gave the Zephyrs Al Ferrari and Shellie McMillan for Bridges and Ralph Davis...At KU, he was an All-Big Eight selection for three consecutive years and was named by the UPI as the Outstanding Player in the Big Eight in his senior year... He set KU school and conference records of 580 career rebounds in his senior year, 1960-61 and school record of 1,081 rebounds for his career there...He won the Big Eight rebound flag with mark of 211 rebounds as sophmore...Repated as junior with 175 and hit 194 as senior for third title...Also holds Big Eight tournament career mark with 145 rebounds and single tourney mark with 64...18th Big Eight player to reach 1000 career points with final total of 1028 markers.. Finished 10th in Big 8 scoring race in 1959 on 13.2 average; 10th in 1960 with 11.2 and 8th in 1961 with 16.1...Finished career fifth on all-time KU career scoring lists at 1028 trailing only Clyde Lovellette, Wilt Chamberlain, Wayne Hightower and Charley Black..He had NBA career high of 18 points vs Chicago at Chicago March 5, 1963. ..He was all-state high school basketball player for three years at Hobbs, N.M. and was all-state oneyear in football...He joined KC in now defunct American Basketball League in 1961 and in 79 games that year scored 1697 points with 1059 rebounds, averaging 21.4 and 13.4 in those departments...He had a .454 field goal mark and a .702 free throw record...He was that league's MVP that season...In half a season last year, he scored 849 points in 29 games for a 29.2 mark, tops for that circuit...He appeared in only 27 games after joining the club in January of last year but made a fine contribution in an off-the-bench role...In the playoffs, he was just short of sensational, especially against Detroit...He averaged 12.3 per game against the Pistons with a per-game rebound mark of 13.7...Gallatin plans to use him both at a forward and center spot....Tremendously strong and agile around the pivot...Bridges has a public relations job with Wonder Bread in Kansas City during the off-season...

GENE TORMOHLEN

BUMPER

AGE: 26
HGT: 6-9
WGT: 235
Born: Holland, Indiana on May 12, 1932
College: University of Tennessee from 1955 to 1959
Residing in Kansas City, Missouri

This will be Tormohlen's first full season with the Hawks after joining the team last January when the American Basketball League folded...He saw action in only seven games after joining the club playing a total of only 47 minutes...A fine outside shooter, Gene needs only to gain experience to be a valuable asset to the Hawks... He has tremendous desire, good speed and is a fine rebounder...He is a good passer despite the fact that, at times, he appears crude... In college, he captained the U. of Tennessee cagers in his senior year in 1958-59, and won All-Southeast Conference honors in his junior and senior years at Knoxville...After graduation, he decided to forgo a shot at professional basketball and play amateur ball with the Cleveland Pipers of the National Industrial Basketball League... He had been the second draft choice of the Syracuse Nationals in the 1959 college draft...He was a teammate of John Barnhill's at Cleveland during the 1959-60 and 1960-61 seasons when the Pipers ranked with the Phillips Oilers as the top amateur team in the nation...When the ABL was formed in 1961, he joined the Kansas City Steers and earned the rating of the top center in the circuit...In 76 games there in 1960-61, he scored 947 points in 76 games for a 12.4 mark...He had a .436 field goal mark and grabbed 808 rebounds...He had a 15.2 for five post-season playoff games...In 30 games during the 1962-63 season before joining the Hawks, Tormohlen scored 433 points for a per-game mark of 14.4...In the off-season, Gene is a physical education instructor in Kansas City staging basketball clinics throughout that area...He played high school basketball in Holland, Indiana

CHARLES VAUGHN

AGE: 23 Chico
HGT: 6-3
WGT: 190
Born in Unity, Illinois on February 19, 1940
Residing; St. Louis, Missouri
COLLEGE; Southern Illinois University from 1958 until 1962

The Hawks fourth draft choice two years ago, Vaughn proved he was one of the most spectacular shooters to enter the league in ten years last year...He averaged 10.1 points a game last season and had a 15.1 mark in 13 pre-season games this year when he led the club in field goal shooting with a mark of .578...The Hawks were fortunate he played in only nine games in his senior year;otherwise he is almost a certainity he would have been selected higher in the draft...A native of Tamms, Illinois, he set virtually every SIU scoring record while playing for Harry Gallatin at the Carbondale school...He set 12 marks for future SIU courtsters to shoot at... Among the marks were (1) 2,088 points in 85 games for a 24.5 mark (2) accuracy marks of .439 from the field and .737 from the free throw line and (3) 7.8 rebounds, high for a guard...His top-point year in college came in 1959-60 as a sophmore when he netted 779 points in 29 games for a 26.9 mark...He averaged 23.8 as a freshmen...23.3 as a junior and 21.9 as a senior...After his sophmore year, Vaughn was named to the first team on the UPI All-American small college team, repeating as a junior when Zelmo Beaty was also a member...His SIU mates ranked 4th nationally in 1960-61 with a 20-5 mark...His college high was against Tennessee State as a soph when he scored 43 points...He had a high game of 29 as a pro last year...In high school at Tamms he scored 3,378 points for a still-standing Illinois schoolboy record...A fine rebounder and exceptional dribbler, Vaughn is a spectacular shooter...He had a .417 fg% and .720 ft% last year...played high school baseball and had several pro offers....Best outside jump shooter on club...Aggressive on defense...Oneescored 67 points in game vs Thebe, Ill. in high school ...married to the former Jeannie Stewart...was recrestional instructer last summer...plans to enter real estate business this summer...

BOB DUFFY

AGE: 23
HGT: 6-3
WGT: 185
Born in Cold Springs, New York on September 26, 1940
Residing; Katonah, New York
College: Colgate University from 1959 until 1962

The second draft choice of the Hawks two years ago, Duffy saw limited action last year due to inexperience...One of the fastest backliners in the league and a fine passer, a defensive deficiency he is expected to overcome this year forced him to a reserve capacity... He was the nation's sixth leading scorer among the major colleges in 1961-62 scoring 611 points in 23 games at Colgate for a 26.6... In three varsity seasons, he scored 1591 points for a 22.7 mark and set single game, career and average-per-game school marks...He also holds his school's records for most field goal attempts and most field goals made, most free throws attempted and most free throws made, both seasonal and career marks in each case...First Ivy League player to make the grade with Hawks...Two other Colgate players, Carl Braun and Ernie Vanderweghe, the latter now the team doctor for the Los Angeles Lakers, played with New York in the NBA...He had his college high against the U, of Rochester, scoring 48 points in 1962.. ..Played high school ball at John Jay high school in Katonah, N.Y. and won four letters in basketball and baseball...He was all-county there for three years...He was listed in Who's Who in American Colleges...attented summer basketball camp headed by Bob Cousy for two years and patterns his game after the Celtics old master...In senior year of high school he averaged 32.1 points a game...started playing basketball at age of 10 under guidance of his father who was celebrated local high school coach...Father is now police officer in Katonah...Led frosh in college with 291 points...Bob has two younger brothers...Dick, a starting junior guard at Syracuse U. and Don, a junior in high school...Spent last summer in army six-month program.. Outstanding passer with good jump...Needs only to steady down his passing and play more aggressive defense to be outstanding player...

GERRY WARD

AGE: 22
HGT: 6-4
WGT: 200
Born; New York City on September 26, 1941
Residing: Bronx, N.Y.
College: Boston College from 1959 to 1963

The Hawks top draft choice last spring, Ward is regarded to be one of the finest guard prospects the Hawks have ever selected... In the current fashion of NBA backliners, he is a big 6-4 and at 200 pounds, has the weight to be able to play the type of big guard that has caused the club considerable trouble in the past... Ward was the outstanding player in the New England area the past two years, winning the Stein Memorial Trophy last season, emblematic of that area's MVP...Len Wilkens won that honor four years ago ...In addition, Ward was named to the Scholastic All-American team and was selected to the All-East squad of seven national magazines and to the Look All-American squad...Last April, Ward played on the major college squad that participated in the Pan-American game trials in Kansas City...At Boston College, he was the team captain in his senior year and had a career per-game of 15.7 per game, scoring 1,112 points in 71 encounters...He scored 519 points the past season over 26 games for a 20.0 norm and lead his squad in every department...He had a .491 field goal mark...a .704 free throw % and 323 rebounds...He led BC in assists the past three years... Gerry was one of the top five collegians in the nation in field goal accuracy the past three years. hitting on a .570 basis as a sophmore and at a .550 pace two years ago....He attended Cardinal Hayes High School in New York city earning all-city honors...A good steady, sound player, Ward has a good jump shot and has unusual speed for a big guard around the basket...He is very strong as witness his ranking as the nation's 15th ranking rebounder the past two seasons...His most important forte is defense and he lacks only the experience obtained by considerable play to be a top-flight NBA performer...Gerry was a basketball instructor at a summer camp for the past two summers...The Hawks feel they were fortunate in selecting Ward since Boston had indicated that they would make him a territorial pick...When the Celtics elected to try for a big man, he became available...Coach Harry Gallatin is high on his ball-handling and ball control...Originally a forward, he played the back court for the past three years at Boston College.
